Summer

ROCK

CAMP

The Music Academy's Summer Rock Camp is a week long intensive program where students will learn the "ins & outs" of rock & roll, blues, jazz, and other contemporary styles. The camp's emphasis is ensemble playing — students will get to learn and play tunes every day in a band of their peers and The Music Academy faculty, and will develop essential skills and knowledge in instrumental mechanics, improvisation, rock history, music theory, and music electronics. The camp will close with an exciting concert featuring The Music Academy faculty and other State College professional musicians. School-age students, all instruments, and all experience levels are welcome, so don't miss out on the opportunity to see first hand what it's like to be in a full-fledged rock band.

Drummer Charlie Heim has enjoyed success as a musician, composer, and educator throughout Pennsylvania. A graduate of Philadelphia's University of the Arts with a Bachelor's degree in Instrumental Jazz Studies, the State College, PA native has had the pleasure of performing and recording with a multitude of artists across countless genres. Charlie has helped coordinate numerous outreach programs through The University of the Arts, has created, coordinated, and taught a bucket-drumming curriculum for Philadelphia's Honickman Learning Center, and served on the faculty for Penn State University's Summer Jazz Camp for three years running.

George Malek is a 23 year old State College local who is enjoying success teaching in Los Angeles; George will return this summer to reprise ROCK CAMP. His playing infuses jazz and rock and roll, and he is interested in exploring the interface between the two. George is inspired by music with the harmonic intricacy and rhythmic foundation of jazz that is fused with the raw energy of rock and roll.
